

Film and Photography in Library Buildings

Commercial and non-commercial film companies and photographers request to use our library buildings for interviews, movie sets, still photography for magazine articles, wedding photos, news reports and more. Our decision making procedure ensures that student study needs are given due consideration before granting permission.

Commercial film and photography requests:

All commercial film and photography on campus must be approved by the Marketing Department of University Communications and Marketing (505.277.5813, ucam@unm.edu). UCAM screens and processes all requests to film on campus and coordinates contract negotiations for all campus units. UNM policy and guidelines are located at: <http://ucam.unm.edu/marketing/film-guidelines/index.html>.

- UCAM contact: Ethan Rule, UNM Marketing Representative, (505) 277-2322, rule7597@unm.edu
- University Libraries contact: Patricia Campbell, Marketing Manager, pcamp@unm.edu or 277-1010.

UNM Student Film and Photography projects:

Students should contact the Operations Manager for the library where filming is requested. Visit library.unm.edu for library contact information.

Campus visitors:

Campus visitors taking photos or video for personal use are free to film in our space as long as there is no disruption for students studying. Employees may ask visitors to stop filming if we receive complaints.

News Media:

News filming/photography should be coordinated through University Communications and Marketing (505.277.5813, ucam@unm.edu).
